WILL SHOW HOW TO GET DEFENSE FUND

Besides Needs of Army and Navy He Will Urge Merchant Marine and Ratification of Treaties.

Washington, Nov. 23.—President Wilson will indicate, in his annual message to Congress, which he is writing, how, in his opinion, the money necessary to provide for national defense, as proposed by the administration, can be raised.

The president will lay aside practically all other work this week to have, if possible, his message in the hands of the public printer before Thanksgiving day.

He is expected to press the importance of legislation for increases in the army and navy; a merchant marine; rural credits; greater measure of self government for the Philippines; conservation and ratification of the Haitian, Colombian and Nicaraguan treaties.

BLOW YOUR BUCKS AT SLIPPERY GULCH

"SLIPPERY GULCH IN DAYS OF '49"

Will Be Staged by Elks During Carnival Week.

The local Elks have completed arrangements for staging the big fun show made famous by the Red Roosters of Houston, "Slippery Gulch," or "In Days of '49" during the Firemen's Carnival next week. The old electric light plant building, which, by the way, will face right on the "carnival street," has been secured for the attraction and carpenters, painters and electricians will be put to work at once getting things in shape for this amusement novelty.

A Monte Carlo replete with all the gambling devices of the early days will be seen. Roulette, faro, fan-tan, chuck-luck and craps will be played, and hundreds of dollars in Slippery Gulch money, known as bucks, will go into the banks. Expecting large transactions, the bank at Slippery Gulch, with a capital stock of $50,000, will adjoin.

The gambling is to be carried on systematically and ladies will be invited to play the games of chance the same as the men. In fact, the ladies are necessary in the making of the scene. At Monte Carlo the most intrepid gamblers are women.

All gamblers and spectators will be required to pay an admission fee in United States money. If they wish to gamble they must have their money changed into bucks, since no real money is legal in Slippery Gulch. Generous as the days of '59 were to some, the bankers have decided on a monetary system that will make a man with a dime a millionaire.

Ten cents, United States money, will buy one hundred bucks. None of the money, however, can be cashed in. The cash goes to the Elks, and you see it for the last time when you put it through the bank window for bucks. The bucks may be used in the purchase of commodities in the Slippery Gulch general store, which will also adjoin the gambling hall. Stocked on its shelves will be everything, from flour and candy to axle grease.

From the bar drinks of only soft kinds will be served upon payment of Slippery Gulch tender—no other. Any one may order what he pleases from the fanciest of concoctions down to plain old "suds," but what he will get will be soda water.

A dance hall with a floor equally as smooth as any in the city will be operated by the Slippery Gulch sheriff. It will cost 100 bucks to swing your partner around the hall. Cowboys, miners, Indians and men will be seen on the dance floor, in the bar room and at the gambling tables.

A restaurant or "cuisine," as was known in the days of the California gold rush, will serve food as well prepared as it was then. The style and arrangement of dishes will conform strictly to that period, as will all other features of the production.

Those on the entertainment committee have made a study of the history of the life in the gold region of California more than a half century ago, and are eliminating no expense in making it realistic.

"Slippery Gulch" is sure to prove a big success. It will be fun—fun—nothing but fun, so don't miss it. The fire department will receive a liberal percentage of the door admissions to "Slippery Gulch," so in patronizing this afternoon you will be helping two local organizations. Just one final word of caution, mind your P's and Q's or the "Gulch" cops might get you and yank you before the "jedge," where you will get "justice" meted out to you as in the days of long ago.

The barometric pressure is comparatively high over the South and East and over the Plateau, and generally fair weather was reported from those sections. Light local rains occurred, however, in Alabama. An area of low barometer is central over the Canadian Northwest and extends southward over the Plains States, which was attended by light to moderate precipitation in northwestern boundary States and is causing much cloudy weather in the middle portions of the United States. Flurries of snow occurred in the southern lake region and Western Pennsylvania.
